

The new page, appropriately titled “CARIT center”, is a page for students to apply for an open spot that is currently available. The page can be accessed from any of the other currently existing pages on the site, and was given its own spot on the menu. The position is open to both graduate, and undergraduate students and has two separate positions for each grade level. Each position has a different set of courses and this is included for both graduates and undergraduates alike. Once both the grade level and position have been selected, a set of courses is presented that is specific to that grade level and position only. The user is then expected to input their own grades and click on the evaluate button at the bottom to see if they qualify for the spot available.
